Institute TECHINFORMI

Directory of Scientific-Periodicals of Georgia

(As of 2020)

Tbilisi

2021

The directory contains the bibliographies of 149 international scientific periodicals that have been assigned ISSN by the ISSN International Centre and the Georgian National Centre and which reflect to a certain extent their preparedness for entering international scientific literature databases. The publication details are taken from official journal websites, are publisher-checked and certified. The directory data served as a basis for the Georgian scholarly journals' monitoring and identifying the international scientific literature database entry criteria: publications' peer-review, periodicity, independent website, international editorial board membership, DOI (Digital Object Identifier) assignment, the state of indexing in academic databases, etc.

Directory compilers:

Definitions

The directory contains active periodicals, the ISSN of which is registered with the Georgian National Center and certified by the ISSN International Center;

The directory does not include publications in the humanities; Information about the publication is taken from the official website of the magazine, verified and confirmed by the publisher;

The title of the scientific journal in one or more languages is identical to the actual title of the publication;

The Scientific Field Classifier (FOS) of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) is used to determine the thematic affiliation of a scientific journal;

An asterisk on the website address (URL*) of some publications indicates that the journal has an independent site;

The number of members in international editorial boards is given by a sum of two digits, the first of which indicates the number of members from Georgia, the second - from abroad.
